

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

If I had had more time, things would have been different.

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever spent more time than you wanted to on a project, a problem or a situation?
- If you could use your time differently, how would you use it?
- Who would you have gotten to help you if you could have?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about emotions, opinions, money and work.
- I can write about hypothetical situations in the past.
- I can speculate about the past.

Let's Explore!

Peter, Sally and Vanessa deal with money issues and bureaucracy.

* "Bureaucracy" is a word that comes from the French word bureau, which means desk.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: You must have finished with all the bureaucratic garbage you have had to deal with over the last week.
- Sally: I know I may have spent four or five full days running around, making reports, signing forms and being passed from one person to another. If only I had reported it earlier.
- Vanessa: You shouldn't have done so much online shopping. It must have happened because of that.
- Peter: We all have done things we shouldn't have done. Like, I shouldn't have given Kevin that loan.
- Sally: You loaned someone money!? Ha!
- Peter: What would you have done? It was a while back. I got some tax money back and my high-school buddy Kevin needed rent money. He would have been kicked out and then he would have been asking to live with me if I hadn't lent it to him.
- Vanessa: I still think you must have been crazy to lend it to him. I imagine you're not friends anymore.
- Peter: No, we still hang out. I think after Kevin must have thought I would lend him money because he always asks.
- Sally: Never lend a friend money. You are too forgiving, Peter. You haven't asked him to pay you back? Gosh, I feel like I should have lent you money when you asked.
- Peter: You could have lent it to me, but I have a car instead, and that's pretty cool!
- Vanessa: All this money talk is making me nervous. I have bill payments and student loan payments coming up and I will be strapped for cash.
- Peter: At least we have good friends, right. We can just hang out and live on love.
- Sally: That sounds like something I'd say! And I agree, let's not worry about money now, let's just seize the moment!

Let's Practice!

You always have your friends!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle the incorrect word. Write the correct word above to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. That sounds like something I'd say! And I agree, let's not worry about money now, let's just size the moment!

2. We can just hung out and life on love.

3. You are too forgivin, Peter.

4. All this money tak is making me nervus.

5. You must have finished with all the buraucratic garvage you have had to go deal with over the last week.

Let's Practice!

Time to speculate about the past.

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. You could have lent it to me,
2. I still think you must have been crazy
3. Kevin must have thought I would lend him money
4. I know I may have spent four or five full days

COLUMN B

- a. to lend it to him.
- b. because he always asks.
- c. but I have a car instead, and that's pretty cool!
- d. running around, making reports, signing forms and being passed from one person to another.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue about wasted time.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Tell your partner about a project at work that took longer or cost more money than you expected.
- Ask your partner what he/she would have done differently?
- Write a dialogue reflecting your conversation.
- Read it aloud together.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about money or work.

☐
☐

I talk about the hypothetical past with a partner.

☐
☐

I listen to my partner talk about the hypothetical past.

☐
☐

I write about the hypothetical past.

☐
☐

Target Words

- bureaucratic (adjective): involving a lot of complicated official rules and processes
e.g. You must have finished with all the bureaucratic garbage you have had.
- loan (noun): an amount of money that you borrow from a bank or somebody, an amount of money that you lend somebody e.g. I shouldn't have given Kevin that loan.
- to kick out (noun): to make someone leave a location, a group, a school, etc.
e.g. He would have been kicked out and then he would have been asking to live with me.
- student loan (noun): a loan given to students to pay for their education e.g. I have bill payments and student loan payments coming up.
- to be strapped for cash (verb): without money, or low on money
e.g. I will be strapped for cash.
- to seize (verb): to take hold of something suddenly and violently
e.g. Let's not worry about money now, let's just seize the moment!

Learning Points

The Third Conditional - Talking Hypothetically About the Past

You use the third conditional to talk about unreal situations in the past. These are things that did not happen in the past. You often use the third conditional to talk about regrets.

When you want to talk about situations in the past in a hypothetical context (not real or necessarily true), you can use the structures would have, should have and could have.

Could have (+ past participle) means that something was possible in the past, or you had the ability to do something in the past, but that you didn't do it.

Example: You could have lent it to me, but I have a car instead, and that's pretty cool!

Should have (+ past participle) means something would have been a good idea, but you didn't do it. You can use it to give advice about the past when you are talking to someone else, or to express regret about what you did or didn't do when you're talking about yourself.

Example: You shouldn't have done so much online shopping.

Use would have (+ past participle) to talk about something you wanted to do but didn't.

Example: He would have been kicked out and then he would have been asking to live with me if I hadn't lent it to him.

Look at the chart below for the structure of the third conditional:

Conditional Name	Structure	Example
Third	If + Past Perfect, could/should/would (not) have + past participle	If I hadn't lent it to him, he would have been kicked out and then he would have been asking to live with me.

Examples:

- You shouldn't have done so much online shopping.
- We all have done things we shouldn't have done.
- Like, I shouldn't have given Kevin that loan.
- I feel like I should have lent you money when you asked.
- You could have lent it to me, but I have a car instead, and that's pretty cool!

