

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What do I wish?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever missed an opportunity?
- What opportunities would you have taken if they had been given to you?
- What do you wish for in the future?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about emotions, opinions, money and work.
- I can talk about what I wish for in the past, present or future.
- I can talk about hypothetical situations in the past.

Let's Explore!

Peter wastes an opportunity!

* "To waste an opportunity" means to miss or not take an opportunity.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Don't you wish we lived in a warmer climate? It's absolutely freezing today.

Peter: I wish I had gone to Africa. What a wasted opportunity!

Vanessa: With Amy? She asked you to go with her?

Peter: If she hadn't asked me to go, I wouldn't be so regretful.

Sally: At least that explains why you've been so down over the last week!

Vanessa: If you had gone, maybe you would have fallen in love.

Sally: Oh Peter. I wish you made better decisions when it comes to women. Hey, I know, why don't we take a trip of our own? We could go to the Caribbean! There are all-inclusive deals.

Vanessa: I wish I had the money, but I don't.

Peter: If I had told Amy how much I liked her, maybe it could have worked.

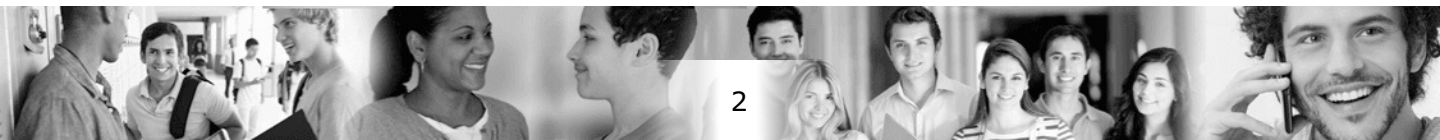

Sally: If you had gone, you also might have broken up, you might have been killed by a poisonous snake, you might have decided to never come back. The possibilities are limitless. There are so many things I wish I had done, but also so many things I'm glad I did. Maybe we should start thinking about the future. Like, don't you wish we could all take a trip together soon since it's cold outside?

Vanessa: I wish we were on the beach right now! I should have saved some money over the last year.

Peter: I wish I were kitesurfing on an aquamarine ocean with gentle waves. I wish I were lying under the blazing sun with a warm gentle breeze blowing.

Sally: That's the spirit!

Vanessa: If I hadn't paid so many bills this month, I would be the first to say we should go. Sorry to say, I am flat broke and on a strict budget for a while.

Let's Practice!

Dreaming of better weather.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. So / many / done / are / had / things / I / I / . / wish / There

2. cold / we / outside / so / it's / soon / a / you / could / together / all / take / trip / since / Don't / ? / wish

3. right / we / on / now / I / the / beach / were / ! / wish

4. we / climate / wish / ? / Don't / warmer / in / you / a / lived

Let's Practice!

Peter should have thought twice about some of his decisions.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle the incorrect word. Write the correct word above to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. If you has gone, you also might have broke up.

2. If you had stay , you might has been killed by a poisonous snake.

3. If you had leave , you mite have decided to never come back.

4. If I had tell Amy how much I liked her, maybe it could have working.

5. I should've save some money over the last year.

Extension Activity

Research and write about a dream vacation.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Tell a partner about where you wish you could go on vacation.
- Research the details of your dream vacation online (in English).
- Write a description of 200 words of where you wish to go.
- Read your description aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about a wish for the present and future.

☐ ☐

I research the details of the trip I wish I could go on.

☐ ☐

I write a description of the trip I wish for.

☐ ☐

I read my description aloud.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- down (adjective): having a lower level of activity, feeling bad about something e.g. That explains why you've been so down these days.
- all-inclusive (adjective): including everything
e.g. There are all-inclusive deals.
- limitless (adjective): with no limits
e.g. The possibilities are limitless.
- kitesurfing (noun): the sport of sailing standing up on a surfboard while being pulled along by a large kite e.g. I wish I were kitesurfing.
- aquamarine (adjective): the color of a greenish blue jewel, or the type of stone it comes from e.g. I wish I were surfing on an aquamarine ocean.
- blazing (adjective): extremely hot e.g. I wish I were lying under the blazing sun.
- that's the spirit (expression): used to express positive point of view towards any attitude or behavior
e.g. That's the spirit!
- flat broke (adjective): to have no money at all e.g. I am flat broke.
- strict (adjective): demanding that rules concerning behavior are obeyed and observed e.g. I am flat broke and on a strict budget for a while.

Learning Points

The Third Conditional - Talking Hypothetically About the Past

You use the third conditional to talk about unreal situations in the past.

These are things that did not happen in the past. You often use the third conditional to talk about regrets.

When you want to talk about situations in the past in a hypothetical context (not real or necessarily true), you can use the structures would have, should have and could have.

Look at the chart below for an outline of these structures within a third conditional sentence:

Structure	Use/Meaning	Example
Could have (+ past participle)	something was possible in the past, or you had the ability to do something in the past, but that you didn't do it	If I had told Amy how much I liked her, maybe it could have worked.
Should have (+ past participle)	- something would have been a good idea, but you didn't do it - use it to give advice about the past when you say it to someone else, or to express regret about what you did or didn't do when you're talking about yourself	I should've saved some money over the last year.
would have (+ past participle)	talk about something you wanted to do but didn't (regret)	If you had gone, maybe you would have fallen in love.

Examples:

- If I had told Amy how much I liked her, maybe it could have worked.*
- I should've saved some money over the last year.*
- If you had gone, maybe you would have fallen in love.*

Learning Points

Talking about Wishes

You use wish, plus the past form of the verb or the past participle of the verb to talk about imaginary situations in the past, present or future.

Wishes and sentences in the second and third conditional infer that what you want is probably not possible, or for some reason impossible and that you regret what happened in the past.

You use wish + Simple Past to talk about wishes in the present or future.

For example:

Sometimes I wish I had the money but I don't.

(I don't have the money.)

You use wish + could to talk about wishes for the future.

Example:

Don't you wish we could all take a trip together soon since it's so cold outside?

You use wish + had + past participle to talk about wishes about past situations.

For example:

I wish I had gone to Africa.

(I didn't go to Africa.)

